SOLOMON DREW takes the present opportunity of returning his grateful thanks to the public, for the liberal encouragement he has received since his commencement in business, and begs leave to assure them that no exertion has been spared to render his establishment convenient for the reception of travellers and a desirable house for respectable boarders. His stock of wines, liquors, beer, &c have been selected with attention, and he trusts they will be found not inferior to any in the district. His stabling is fitted up in the best manner, and well adapted for travellers, or others who wish to have their horses kept by the month, week, or otherwise. At the suggestion of some of his friends, he has appropriated a part of his house to the Oyster Business, where will be furnished oyster suppers in the most comfortable manner and reasonable terms.
N B The subscriber will carry on the Tavloring business as heretofore, and returns his acknowledgements to his customers in that line, for favors received and hopes to merit their future support. Oct. 21

☞ Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands, Mr. ALLEN's present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS

By Joseph M. Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, oct vo. and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on [illegible] paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable [illegible] office.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1819.

Scarcely any thing can present more variety of hues, no, not even the tints of the rainbow itself, than the questions that must be presented at the next session of congress, for the consideration of that body. They will be in the first place called upon to adjust the conflicting interests of the mercantile and manufacturing classes of our fellow citizens; this question, of itself, is a ponderous subject for debate, and well calculated to awaken sectional and local jealousies. Whether congress will impose such heavy duties on articles of foreign manufacture, as come in competition with our own manufacture, sufficient to amount to an absolute prohibition, is a question about which they will be called to deliberate. If wishes were not the most idle of all idle things, we would hope that the members of our congressional aviary might replume their legislative pinions, and soar in the wide expanse of such policy. But it unfortunately so happens, that amidst all the teeming varieties with which our country abounds, amidst all the vegetable, mineral and animal productions to be found in our climate, a real politician would be perfectly a Mammoth in the moral world. Bones of such animals may indeed be found in the American soil, and the misery is, that we can find this animal only in the bones. What we mean by a politician, will, we hope, without further comment, be understood to import something different; we do not mean that the meanest of all avarice, an avarice for popularity—that griping hook, nailed rapacity for office and emolument, which so far as respects moral dignity and worth, sinks to nothing in comparison with the meanest mendicant, that implores charity at our doors.—When we speak of politicians, we do not mean those political highwaymen who rob us, not of our gold, but what is still dearer, of our confidence, men who smile to deceive, and who flatter to betray—such are not the men that we would designate when we speak of politicians. No, we mean by politicians, men of large and of comprehensive views—men who look with disdain on any and on every question subordinate to that of their country's welfare—men who when employed in legislation, mean to act not as popularity pimps, but as legislators—men who feel in all its bearings, and in all its details, the grandeur, the importance and the dignity of the subject proposed for debate. Such are the men that the present crisis demands, and of such men are we deplorably in want!!!! Whatever may be our present, or our future difficulties, such men and such only can bring us out. It has we know been often and ostentatiously said, that liberty is the idol of Americans, but liberty never meant the disposition to do wrong: a representative government, means a representative not of this town, city, district, or state, but a representative of the whole republic—a representative capable of combining in his mind the present and future permanent interests of his country; a representative capable of distinguishing between the clamor of his constituents, and the still small and often discordant voice of justice and honor. We suppose that observations of this character, will be put down by our brother editors abroad, who have hitherto honored us with their notice, to the account of an ungovernable fancy; they will accuse us of being led away by an ignus fatuus of imagination, by the bewildering lights of a distempered intellect, until we have been led step by step into the quagmires of justice and of honor. If we mention the glory and the grandeur of our country, we are turned short in our enquiries with this question; what will all this avail towards our advancement in office Will a war with Spain render me popular with my constituents, or how will any espousal of the question of our manufacturing or our commercial interests operate on my next election! Here is the great point on which our legislators are prone to differ;—peace or war, national happiness, or national misery are made to depend on the elegibility of the representative for office: he will take possession of Florida by his vote without hesitation, provided you can assure him at the same time, that he will take possession of his office. Our, republic, when we view it at a distance, may be called an animated Colussus—it is a giant that seems to start not by its own regular growth, but by a sort of native and instinctive energy into grander dimensions, and more appalling proportions at every moment; it is not a distempered growth, every vein and sinew is replete with Herculean vigor; the head is already crowned with a glittering constellation, and new stars are daily added to the cluster; he looks around with defiance and disdain on our lakes, and on the Atlantic, and behold in those regions the bright and triumphant reflection of those luminaries. This is the object on which we delight to meditate; but small politicians when employed to represent a character so august, can easily prove by their actions, such a vision to be nothing more than the chimera of fancy. ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 1.

We understand from good authority, that two Russian sloops of war, (each accompanied by a store ship) have lately sailed on different voyages of discovery.

The following is a correct account of the exports of the principal articles of country produce from the port of Savannah, for one year, ending the 1st of the present month, and in which is designated the relative proportions of Uplands and Sea Island Cotton—from which it will be seen that there were shipped, during that period, from Savannah, 102,477 bales of cotton.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Saturday morning last, Capt. William R. Graham, of Fredericksburg, Mr. Richard Hambly, an officer of the Independent Privateer Constancia, now in this port, and Mr. Henry Northrop, brother to the commander of said privateer and also attached to her, left here about 8 o'clock in the morning, in a small sail boat, to go into Hampton Roads. During the next day a boat answering the description of the one they were in, was picked up in the Roads, bottom upwards, and two hats, similar to those worn by Capt. G. and one of his companions, were also picked up in Hampton Creek. As nothing has been heard of the above named persons since their departure on Saturday morning, and as the wind during that day blew with great violence, it is apprehended that the boat was capsized and that those on board must have been drowned. From the Salem Gazette.

TO THE HUMANE INHABITANTS OF SALEM,

Who with equal liberality and benevolence, contributed upwards of 157 dollars for the relief of the late Captain Reuben Gardner, who, together with the survivors of his crew was taken from the wreck of the British brig Daphne, and brought into that hospitable port; where, notwithsanding every possible attention, he fell a victim to the hardships he had endured.

British Consulate, Boston, Oct. 19.

Gentlemen—Although those who, like yourselves, are solely actuated by motives of humanity, delight to you must pardon me for thus publicly thanking you, in the name of my country, for the munificent and compassionate relief recently conferred by you on my late unfortunate fellow subject, captain Reuben Gardner, and extended since his decease to his afflicted widow; for the publicity of such exemplary benevolence, must prove both morally and politically beneficial. It must tend to elevate our general ideas of human excellence, and to cherish and strengthen those friendly propensities, which are now so happily reciprocated by our respective countries.

'Do good by stealth, and blush to find it fame,'

I have taken measures to carry into immediate effect your kind intention with respect to Mrs. Gardner, who must derive the most salutary consolation from the assurance that her husbands sufferings received every alleviation which friendship and commisseration could bestow, and that the last moments of his existence were cheered by the voice of sympathising benevolence.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, with the highest respect and esteem, your most obedient humble servant.

GEORGE MANNERS,
His Britannic Majesty's Consul in the state of Massachusetts.

Translated for the New-York Evening Post.
Lisbon, August 26, 1819.

The following was published by the Board of Finance:

In consequence of the representations which have been made to the king, of the serious inconvenience, which vessels from Hamburg, Sweden, and other foreign ports, arriving in this kingdom without being furnished with the documents required by the decree of 25th of April, last year, of which neither the shippers or captains had the requisite notice, the result was, that such vessels were not admitted to make their entry, occasioning heavy loss to the merchants, delay and damage to the goods imported.

His majesty wishing to establish a rule in this matter, of which no persons can in future alledge ignorance, hereby declares that all goods, wares, merchandize and effects, which may be shipped from foreign countries, (with the exception of the British dominions,) in order to be admitted to dispatch in the custom-house of this kingdom, must infallibly be accompanied by the original tickets, or cocquets, (clearances) of dispatch from the custom-house of the port from which said vessels respectively come numbered progressively, with the initials of the Portuguese consul, or vice consul of the district of said port, joined together, and certified by the said consul in a sheet of paper annexed, as to the authenticity, and numbers of cocquets or tickets of dispatch, in such a manner that none can be separated, taken out, or others substituted, without the fraud being evident. It is also requisite that the manifest of the cargo be testified by the Portuguese consul, and both documents sealed with the consular seal.

On the 1st of January, 1820, the present regulation will be enforced in all the custom-houses of these kingdoms, according to the orders expedited to the royal council of finance, published on the 1st of July, of the present year.—Nevertheless, this extension is not to be granted to vessels coming from the ports of France and the Netherlands, respecting which the previous regulations remain in force, having been duly notified by H. M. ministers resident in these kingdoms, and ordered to be put in practice by the decrees of 21st Nov. 1818, and 10th May, of the present year.

The council of finance and all others to whom it may appertain, will do the needful.

Palace of the government, 14th Aug. 1819.

Signed by four of the Governors of the kingdom of Portugal.

FROM ST. THOMAS.

Received at the Merchants' Coffee-House.

St. Thomas, Sept. 24.

Since the commencement of our editorial duties, it has not been our province to record an event of a nature so much to be lamented as that of the Hurricane of the 21st and 22d instant.

During the whole of the day of the 21st the appearance of the weather strongly indicated the approaching storm, consequently every precaution within the power of human foresight was taken by the vessels in the harbor to enable them to resist its depredative effects—but the event has unfortunately proven how weak are the utmost efforts of human power. In the evening of the 21st it began to blow with much violence from W. N. W. attended with torrents of rain, (which indeed continued to fall without intermission throughout the continuance of the storm); from one until four o'clock of the morning of the 23d, the hurricane was most severe, and blew with a degree of violence greater than ever before occurred in this island within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants; the wind occasionally shifting between W. N. W. and S. S. W.

At day-light the wind having moderated a little, our town and harbor presented a truly melancholy and appalling appearance; all the fences have been destroyed, many houses unrooted and some entirely blown down, every wharf injured in some degree and many of them carried entirely away; when the wind had moderated sufficiently, and the tremendous torrents of rain had ceased to obscure the atmosphere, the extent of our loss was discovered—of the numerous fine vessels that floated in our harbor on the morning of the 21st, not one rode out the gale but H. B. M. ship Salisbury, Admiral Campbell, (she having dragged considerably from her original situation,) the Danish ship Harriet Davis, the Danish schr. Patriot, and two sloops—the whole of the beach in the south-eastern extremity of the harbor is completely lined with the wrecks, but few of which, it is feared, will ever be got off; it is to be lamented however, that a number have gone down, from which circumstance we are apprehensive that many lives have been lost, in addition to the great number already ascertained. We wish we had it in our power to close the record of destruction here; but unfortunately the ravages of the gale were not confined to the sea; we learn from the country that the works and dwellings on almost every plantation in the island have been materially injured, many of them wholly blown away, and on a few estates some negroes have been killed, which together with the destruction of the cane, has completely destroyed all our expectations of the ensuing crop—to attempt an estimate of the loss our unfortunate island has sustained, would be impossible. —— [Balt. Pat.

Charleston, October 23.

Arrived, brig James Lawrence, Hewes, Philadelphia, 13 days; Passengers, Messrs. B. Sanchez, J. Lefrecher, and 2 in the steerage. The James Lawrence was bound to Havana, and was compelled to put into this port, in consequence of a discovery having been made on the 15th inst. off the southward of Abaco, by Mr. Lefrecher, that Mr. Sanchez informed him that it was not his intention to proceed to the Havana, and that if he could not prevail on Captain H. to go to Neuvetes, that he would use force, in order to carry his design into effect.—Mr. Sanchez further said to J. Lefrecher, that in case of the positive refusal of Capt. Hewes, to carry the brig and himself to Neuvetes, he would immediately after making the Hole in the Wall, avail himself of the first opportunity of securing the vessel, by murdering the captain, mate, and man at the helm.—He told him his reasons for waiting that period, was in consequence of his not being a navigator, but a pilot for the Bahamas, and he should then be able to reach Neuvetes, without difficulty, being informed by Capt. Hewes, and also by Mr. J. Lefrecher, of the above particulars. It was concluded by the captain to confine Mr. Sanchez and his two servants in the forecastle, and put into Charleston, being the nearest port in the U. States, for the purpose of landing them, which was done; and at meridian, wore ship, and stood to the northward and westward, under double reefed mainsail and fore top-sail, fore and aft foresail, jib and staysail ends, blowing strong and a heavy sea, shipping much water. LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By arrivals at New-York from London.

A Dresden paragraph, of the 31st of Aug. announces that, on the 28th of that month, the marriage of the Princess Josephine, to the king of Spain, was celebrated by procuration. She was soon to set out for Spain; and expected to arrive at Strasburgh on the 10th of September, at Bayonne on the 24th and at Madrid on the 28th. The Spanish ambassador was to meet the new queen at Strasburgh and accompany her to to the Spanish capital

It is stated in the London Times, on the doubtful authority of a letter from Brussels, that the armament now preparing in the ports of England has caused some movement among the American ships in the ports of the Netherlands. In consequence of intelligence they have received from London, (says the letter) they are either sailing, or preparing in all haste for their departure.

The Gazette de France gives the following as an extract of a letter from Altona of the 31st of August—"The recruits in our Dutchies and in Denmark, have suddenly received orders to join their respective regiments, which excites conjectures so much the more important, as it is reported that revolutionary and bloody scenes have taken place in Sweden."

Letters from Madrid to the 29th of August, received in London, mention, that there is a schism in the Spanish cabinet in relation to the Florida treaty. The majority of the ministers, it is stated, are in favor of the ratification; but two or three individuals possessing the most influence with the king, are opposed to it, and have persuaded him not to give to the treaty his ultimate approbation.—Some of the letters state, that Mr. Forsyth had quitted Madrid, and was on his way to Cadiz to embark for America.—Other letters state, that the Duke de San Carlos will return to the ministry of the state. It is, however, more probable, that it will be M. Lozano de Torres, whose successor in the ministry of justice is already designated. It is also said that Don Onis will replace General Alava at the Hague.

Another letter mentions, that the departure of the fleet from Cadiz for South America was fixed for the 15th of September; that the preparations were pushed forward with surprizing rapidity; and that it was the expectation that every thing would be ready by that period.

Advices from Marseilles state, that 4000 English are expected at Genoa, to form the garrison of that town. By this it appears, that all the maritime arrangements of various governments are directed against the Barbary powers.

The fact of the retirement of Mr. Royer Collard from the presidency of the council of public instruction, is confirmed. He was to take his leave of the council on Wednesday. It is said that M. Portalis, will be his successor.

It is understood that the fortifications of Mentz and Coblentz are to be augmented; a plan is spoken of formed by the duke of Wellington, for establishing new points of defence on the Rhine.

An article under the head of Turin, the 28th of August, mentions, that the three commercial houses here, those of Henry Bolimeda, Parracca and Vasca, and Raimondo Vigitello, have stopped payment. The house of Guiseppi, Vinatier & Co. had previously failed.

The Russian Gen. Wolkow, commandant of Moscow, passed through Strasburg, on the fourth of September, with despatches for Spain.

The emperor of Russia, it is said, is to visit Warsaw about the last of October; and is then to visit Cuban and Mount Caucasus.

An article from Rastadt of the first of Sept. says, that all the letters from the interior of Germany, speak of the importance of the armaments which are actively going forward in the Austrian monarchy; 80,000 recruits have been distributed amongst the different corps, and a second levy is talked of. The batalions of the Landwehr are all armed and ready to join the regiments of the line; 4000 horses have been purchased in Holstein, to remount the heavy cavalry.

Prices of Stocks in London—3 per cent consols, to 1-2 5 8—5 per cent navy ann. 104 3 8 1-8 1-4—Omnium 3 1-8 1-4 pr.

London, Sept. 13.

The principal feature in the stock exchange during the past week, has been the cautious nature of the greater part of the speculations.

The equipment of the ships to sail under the orders of Com. Sir Thomas Hardy, for South America, is carried on with the greatest celerity at Plymouth. Surveys on the crews of the Vengeur and Superb, of 74 guns, each, and of the Hyperian trigate, have been held, and such men as from various causes, were deemed unfit for service, have been discharged. None but prime and good seamen have been received to complete the number, which, it is said, in addition to the marines on board each ship, will consist of the full compliment.

Mr. Cobbett has been invited to return to this country. It is positively stated, that two of his chief creditors have offered to allow him 600l. a year, provided that he would publish his paper for their advantage, and allow them to receive the profits of it until their claims, amounting to 4,000l. are discharged. Mr. Cobbett, we understand, has accepted these conditions, and is soon expected in this country. [Englishman.

The Dublin Commercial Gazette of Wednesday last says, "On Sunday night last the guards at the castle were trebled, the pieces of artillery on the spot were prepared for any emergency, and a strong body of horse was ordered to patrole on the Naas road. Similar precautions were taken at the last mentioned town: the guards were there doubled and the staff of the Kildare militia was ordered on duty. It is also asserted in letters from the Queen's County, that several nightly meetings have taken place in the neighborhood of Mount Mellick, of persons in arms." Sept. 14.

We received yesterday Buenos Ayres Gazettes to the 9th of June, from which we learn, under the head of intelligence from Chilli, that Lord Cochrane has been compelled to abandon his blockade of the port of Callao. In his letter to Don Joce Ignacio Zenteno, the Spanish minister of war and marine, he assigns as a reason for this measure, "the urgent necessity of obtaining water and provisions." The letter is dated April 10.

The same papers contain an account of three dreadful earthquakes, which took place in Copiapo on the 3d, 4th, and 11th of last April. The whole city is said to be destroyed by these awful visitations. More than three thousand persons were traversing the neighboring plains, flying from the desolation which had been produced. It appears, according to all the accounts, that the inhabitants had time to save their lives, but only their lives. Copiapo is a seaport of Chili, and stands on the south side of a river of the same name, about 490 miles N. by E. of Valparaiso.

Zanesville, (Ohio) October 13.

The following melancholy narration was communicated by a gentlemen, in Putnam, who obtained the facts from the most undisputable source.

TRAGICAL EVENT.

The unhappy CHARLOTTE LE TALLIEUR, has terminated, both her sorrows and her existence. She had been uncommonly serious for some weeks past, and had intimated to the family with whom she boarded, the intention of soon putting and end to her scenes of trouble here; but they rested in security, believing her expressions nothing more than the effect of an usual turn of melancholy. On the Sabbath previous to her death, she attended public worship as usual, but was observed to be frequently in tears. Towards evening she seemed to view and speak of daily periodical events, as passing never to return:—Said to one of her companions when retiring for the night, "to-morrow evening I shall rest, where the return of morning will not disturb my repose, and out of the power of any one to wound my feelings." Monday morning she arose and commenced her usual occupations, but appeared much agitated and talked, continually, of dying. The family thought proper to send for her friend and Guardian, Mr. E. During the performance of this errand, she procured an ounce of arsenic from Dr. K. not far distant, and returned without being missed. Nothing unusual was suspected by the Dr. in consequence of her saying it was desired, for the purpose of killing vermin. On the arrival of the old gentleman, her Guardian, (though even then concealing in her hand the baleful potion) she spoke to him with a cheerful smile; thus lulling suspicion asleep. Considerable conversation took place, and he feelingly endeavored to point out the wickedness of the crime she had threatened to commit. But her resolution was fixed, and shortly after his departure, she prepared and took the whole of the poison she had procured. She immediately informed a lady of the family (the same mentioned before as her companion) that she had taken the fatal dose, and now rejoiced in the prospect of soon bidding adieu to this troublesome world. The effect of the poison was immediate.—Every exertion was made for her relief but all in vain. She utterly refused all medical aid and died about 5 o'clock P. M. after having endured, for several hours, the most excruciating pain. She had her senses to the last, but showed not the least contrition on account of the act she had performed. To those around her she said, "grieve not on my account, for soon shall I meet my parents, and enter upon happier scenes." Alas, poor girl! little did she know of that world into which she was about to enter.

The family (mentioned before) were almost inconsolable as well as Mr. E. who a few days previously had executed his will putting her in possession of five or six thousand dollars; but to this circumstance, she paid not the least attention. It is said that, various causes concurred to produce in her the state of mind necessary to the performance of the desperate deed. One is, she imagined herself ridiculed and slighted, by a young gentleman who had previously engaged her affections; but perhaps, other causes had greater effect; her feelings were of the finest kind. and constant reflection upon her lonely and forsaken situation, had wrought her mind to a pitch, rendered almost desperate, by the least coolness or neglect of an acquaintance or friend. She would say, "had I one relation left to ward off the blow, or blunt the edge of slander, it would have been otherwise." Her want of a religious education, had also left her destitute of a refuge from the troubles and perplexities of a wicked world. Unaccustomed to seek consolation from Him, who alone, is able to give it, she knew no rest but in the grave and made haste to reach her goal.

For the information of the reader the following is added by the person who furnished the above.

The subject of this truly lamentable account was an intimate acquaintance; a young lady of good appearance, about seventeen years of age. Her parents emigrating from France and settled in Gallipolis, at quite an early period; they died there while she was yet a child, leaving her a fortune of four or five thousand dollars, but without a single relation in the United States, and but one (of whom she had any knowledge) in the country from whence they came. Mr. E. became her Guardian, and had the character of acting in all respects, the part of the most affectionate father; yet she had no kind female friend to direct her rising years and the tender shoot the course it should pursue. She possessed an education good, (otherwise than not being religious) a disposition amiable; but an imagination rendered so romantic, perhaps by the pernicious influence of Novels and Tales) that her scenes of happiness pictured, were never realized; innocence and simplicity however appeared her exclusive characteristicks. Her situation respecting relatives, weighed heavy upon her mind and often she retired, to shed a tear. Having like the lowly shrub, withstood the blast, when the parent oak was rooted from its seat, and laid prostrate in the grave; she was left exposed, to the piercing rays of malice, without a shadowing branch, to break their force. May not her fate while it teaches the young the impropriety of trifling with each others feelings, act as warning to parents, not to neglect the religious education of their offspring; that, in the day of trouble they may repair to the source of all consolation, and in the hour of temptation, fly to the only sure deliverance.

CHINESE GREETING.

'We found the banks of the river covered on our arrival with a crowd of people assembled to see the embassy; and forming a most motley groupe.—In front were mandarins and soldiers, tawdrily dressed and variously armed: behind, the mob of all classes and complexions, some in white robes, others quite naked, some in immense hats, others with parasols, many bare-headed, and all with long tails. This diversified mass was suddenly thrown into confusion by a party of soldiers, who, flourishing whips on all sides, opened a passage for a number of servants, carrying trays laden with all kinds of provision in profuse abundance. These formed a present from the legate to the ambassador and his train, and were placed in order in the fronts of the boats of the three commissioners. It would be impossible to particularise the different parts of this ostentatious supply. It comprised all sorts of dressed meat, of sheep roasted in halves and quarters, pigs and fowls in abundance, innumerable Chinese made dishes, amongst others, stewed sharks' fins, dogs' sinews, birds' nests and sea slugs, pyramids of cakes and sweetmeats, a large quantity of pickle, and several jars of wine. A part of these formed our dinner: and as it was the first time of partaking of Chinese fare, curiosity induced us to taste the made dishes, but their flavor did not tempt us to do more. The joints of mutton, pigs, and fowls, were so besmeared with a kind of varnish, that they exhibited a perfect metallic polish, and seemed so much more adapted to please the eye than gratify the palate, that we did not attempt to injure the brilliancy of their surface.'

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior court of chancery for the district of Fredericksburg in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next, lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg.—The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from two to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole is well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, and who is employed to make a survey of it; and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will shew the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. Bond and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

4000 Acres of Land,

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.
June 11 tf

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS: Rev. Wm Hawley. Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June26
